About KWHCoin

KWHCoin is a renewable energy company and peer-to-peer social impact project that uses a native token for a decentralized application.

It allows prosumers, consumers and other distributed energy resources to connect and configure their energy resources. The KWHCoin represents a kilowatt hour (kWh) of deliverable energy output or equivalent.

Physical units of kWh energy are leveraged from multiple sources including smart meters, sensor readings and green button data. This measurable output is tokenized on the blockchain to create KWH tokens.

The Problem

An estimated 16 percent of the world's population — 1.2B people — have LITTLE or NO ACCESS to electricity.

The costs of renewable energy transactions are TOO HIGH.

The Solution

Build a decentralized network of renewable energy resources with a zero carbon footprint.

- Export energy is converted to KWH tokens and transferred to users' digital wallets on our peer-to-peer energy trading application—The Grid.
- The Grid will use software and cooperation between peers to provide a global virtual power company. It will leverage blockchain technology and smart contracts to build a decentralized network of distributed clean energy resources.
- The execution of power generation and the distribution delivery of clean electricity will be fully decentralized. Once complete, our borderless, peer-to-peer virtual power grid will operate seamlessly, with no obstructions, and with a zero carbon footprint.

THE PRODUCT

Value Proposition

Business Model: Hybrid business model. Charge a monthly fee for use of the network and other transaction fees based on volume and platform structure.

Revenue Generation: Flat monthly fee – transaction fee for network usage, renewable energy credit fees for commercial and industrial projects and app fees for advertising network promotions.

Expected Margin: Margin model is difficult to determine. Now we have to understand operating costs for projects.

Value to Investor: Tradeable token on multiple cryptocurrency exchanges. This is a new community token model with access to the internet of energy that also has social impact. It's a startup with tremendous market position in a developing industry.
